ALBION STONE

1 Old Jewry, London EC2

Architect/Designer:
Sheppard Robson

Client:
Standard Life

Main Contractor:
Greycoat Estates plc

Location:
City of London

Portland Stone:
Bowers Whitbed

Scope of Project:
Construction of new mixed use development, including retail and office space.

1 Old Jewry is a construction which comprises of retail outlets at ground floor level with six floors of office space above and residential apartments on the top two floors.

Albion Stone supplied 200m³ of stone faced panels in Portland Bowers Whitbed with aluminium cladding to Stone Contractor Szerelmeý for the project.

Standard Life Investments wished to construct a mixed use development of the highest standard, befitting its location in the city, on the corner site of 1-5 Old Jewry and 36-39 Poultry.

The development comprises of commercial offices and sub-divisible retail space on the ground floor and basement. In total, the amount of space is over 10,000m² of which is 1,000m² in retail space.

The key challenge was the location, which was within a restricted area. Due care and consideration was needed with the neighbouring properties when constructing the development.
